GOSPEL Matt. 22:15-21

At that time, the Pharisees went and took counsel how they might ensnare Him in His talk. And they send to Him their disciples, with the Herodians, saying, "Master, we know that Thou art true, and teachest the way of God in truth, and carest not for any one: for Thou regardest not the person of men. Tell us therefore, What thinkest Thou? Is it lawful to give tribute unto Caesar, or not?" But Jesus perceived their wickedness, and said, "Why tempt ye me, ye hypocrites? Show me the tribute money." And they brought unto Him a penny. And He saith unto them, "Whose is this image and superscription?" They say unto Him, "Caesar's." Then saith He unto them, "Render therefore unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's; and unto God the things that are God's."

Saint John Cantius, Confessor

(23 June 1390 – 24 December 1473) was a Polish priest, scholastic philosopher, physicist and theologian. He was born in Kęty, a small town in Poland. He attended the Kraków Academy at which he attained a bachelor degree. In 1418 he became a Doctor of Philosophy. Upon graduation he spent the next three years conducting philosophy classes at the university, while preparing for the priesthood. Upon his ordination, he became rector at the school of the Canons Regular of the Most Holy Sepulcher in Miechów. While there, he was offered a professorship of Sacrae Scripturae (Sacred Scripture) back at his alma mater. He attained a doctorate in theology and eventually became director of the theology department. St. John held the professorship until his death in 1473. He spent many hours copying manuscripts of the Holy Scriptures, theological tracts, and other scholarly works. He became well known in the city for his generosity and compassion toward the poor, especially needy students at the university. St. John subsisted on what was strictly necessary to sustain his life, giving alms regularly to the poor. He made one pilgrimage to Jerusalem and four pilgrimages on foot to Rome.

John Cantius was beatified in Rome by Pope Clement X on 28 March 1676. He was named patron of Poland and Lithuania by Pope Clement XII in the year 1737. Ninety-one years after his beatification, Blessed John Cantius was canonized on 16 July 1767, by Pope Clement XIII. The Roman Breviary distinguishes him with three hymns; he is the only confessor not a bishop who has been given this honor in the Roman Catholic liturgy. St. John Cantius is a popular saint in Poland. A number of churches and schools founded by Polish communities throughout North America are named in his honor. St. John Cantius's feast day was inserted into the General Roman Calendar in 1770, it is assigned to 20 October.

FATHER SAFREED'S REFLECTIONS

In November we believers remember the departed among us, and we contemplate the "Four Last things: Death, Judgment, Heaven and Hell."

I think it important to understand where we are culturally today, and especially where culture touches the Church, and ultimately the salvation of souls. Honestly, the landscape looks very grim, something that many of us sense deep down inside, but may have difficulty acknowledging to ourselves and the people we know.

In the catechism My Catholic Faith by Bishop Louis L. Morrow, the 1959 edition, he states on page 172:

There will be a great apostasy from faith; people will lose themselves in evil.

What an apt description of our age, and in so few words! People 'losing themselves in evil' is something we have come to see everyday, in many different ways. Bishop Morrow uses this description when commenting on the Great Apostasy that St. Paul speaks of, as a prelude to the advent of Antichrist:

Let no one deceive you in any way, for the day of the Lord will not come unless the Apostasy comes first, and the man of sin [Antichrist] is revealed, the son of perdition...For the Mystery of Iniquity is already at work...2 Thes. 2:3; 7a.

What we see around us is the culture that will bring about Antichrist, and is the cause of the damnation of many souls. That's the whole purpose as far as Hell and Satan is concerned.

This appalling state of affairs is described rather well by a Traditional Catholic blogger called Mundabor in an essay entitled The Age of Godlessness and its Consequences:

We who live in this context, cannot kid ourselves that, for our generation, 'everything will be fine.'

If an age of astonishing irreligiousness does not lead to an age of great reprobation, then there is no need to deal with any of that Catholic stuff.

If you live in England, the English Countryside has hundreds, probably thousands, of beautiful churches now empty....

The Country has become largely heathenish, or atheist, with merely a Christian presence.

Habits previously considered typical of heathens have become commonplace, even celebrated: e.g. tattoos, cohabitation, abortion, divorce, even sodomy.

In many ways, the same could be said about the USA.

God's law does not change, and because of this very many will be among the reprobated. We should pray for those who are far from God, but perhaps, even more, we should be profoundly grateful that through the Grace of God we have persevered in the Traditional Catholic Church.
